Outreach Funding allowed the expansion of outreach projects that provided watershed concepts and conservation career development ideas to high and middle school students and to coordinate activities to engage “at-risk youth” in work that has real value for natural resource research and/or management.	93,500
Restoration Nineteen grants provided funding for a variety of restoration projects that include installing riparian exclusion fencing; developing off-stream watering sites; reducing sediment and nutrients from entering streams; addressing noxious and invasive plants; and improving riparian, wetland, upland, and instream habitat and fish passage. For example, 660 trees/logs were placed into nine stream miles in the lower Yaquina River basin and 18 riparian acres were enhanced in the Wright Creek sub-basin through invasive species removal, native plant establishment, and selective thinning of Sitka Spruce plantations in the riparian zone.	1,067,259
Technical Assistance Funds enabled partners to: conduct pre-project field work and project design; draft project proposals and prepare contracts; conduct outreach to engage landowners; complete engineering studies for stream crossings for culverts; develop final engineered designs for levee removal and ditch fill features; determine breach locations and dimensions for adequate tidal flow; and determine how to accommodate future public access opportunities at new breach sites.	155,448
